UM OFFERS CLASS ON BUILDING WEB DOCUMENTS

MISSOULA —

The Information Technology Resource Center at The University of Montana-Missoula will offer a class, Building Web Documents with HTML, from 5 to 9 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays Feb. 12-March 5 in the lower level of the Davidson Honors College.

The $595 course fee includes student materials. The registration deadline is Feb. 7, and enrollment is limited to 21 students. The class is an iGeneration course offering.

The class teaches the basic concepts and skill for designing and developing Web pages using HTML 4.0. Students will learn the primary business uses of the Internet, study extranet and intranet sites, and learn how to build online documents. Students also will learn about hyperlinks, create image maps, build tables and frames, and incorporate graphics and other multimedia elements into their work.

For more information or to register, call 243-6317 or visit the Web site at www.itrc.umt.edu.
